New Radio Station to Start Broadcasting Oct. 1

SHIELDING HIS FACE from news cameras, Gerald Simonds, 21-year-old painter's helper, arrived Friday afternoon with deputy sheriff Carroll Vogelaar at the Palm Springs airport. After a brief interview with newsmen, the murder suspect was rushed to Indio where he was booked on charges of murder. He reportedly admitted that he stabbed Ralph Neiss and burned the body on the Palm to Pines highway during the night of August 9. Simonds, (also shown inset) who was known locally by the alias of David Schultz, tugged nervously on his ear as he was questioned by newsmen at the airport. (Desert Sun Photo).

Niess Killing Admitted by David Schultz

Motive Continues To be Mystery; Arraignment Set

Youthful, curly-haired Gerald Simonds, alias David Schultz, arrived at Palm Springs airport Friday afternoon in police custody, and was rushed to Indio where he admitted under questioning that he had stabbed and cremated Ralph Fred Niess on the night of August 9.

The 21-year-old auto painter's helper told sheriff's deputies how he had left Indio for Palm Desert early the evening of the murder and how he had picked up a hitchhiker in front of Dr. Hayes Date Garden on Highway 111. Then, according to Deputy Sheriff Carroll Vogelaar, Simonds said that Niess offered him money to drive him to Idyllwild and they went up the Palms to Pines Highway.

What prompted the slaying has, at this time, not been made clear by the suspect, but he admits that he stabbed 37-year-old Niess with a pocket knife, and poured gasoline on the car and burned it. He told officers that he had not pushed the car off the cliff, and said that it must have rolled over.

SIMONDS TOLD OFFICERS that after he stabbed Niess, Niess

Eddie and Debbie Hold Court Daily Poolside—to Children—at Biltmore

Eddie Fisher, the "King of Coca Cola," has been holding court at the Biltmore Hotel for the past few days. He will continue to do so until Sunday night when he will reluctantly leave.

His daily court sessions held poolside finds him the center of idol worshiping children for whom he signs autographs and plays with in the swimming pool.

Seated beside him is lovely Debbie Reynolds (Mrs. Fisher), who is expecting the arrival of her first child in late October. She too is drawn into the autograph signing stints.

WITH THE YOUNG couple at the same hotel are John Frankenheimer, who at 26 is hailed as the youngest TV and motion picture director in the world. He is the director of the nationally known TV show called "Climax," and will soon go on the air with a new televised program of one and one-halt hour's duration to be called "Playhouse 90." The first show of this young man's latest will make its debut October 5 over Columbia Broadcasting System at 9:30 p.m.

Also present at the Biltmore is young Frankenheimer's lovely wife, Caroline. There also is Ray Mace who is Eddie Fisher's coach and accompanist.

Eddie and Debbie recently starred in a motion picture called "Bundle of Joy."

FISHER GOES BACK to work next Monday after a vacation of three months and will soon be seen on his regular TV program.

All of them will leave Sunday and this departure will go hard with Eddie who almost shouted at The Desert Sun reporter:

"I love it here in the Summer. I love the sun in Palm Springs at this time of the year. This is my second trip to your city during the summer months. Of course, I like it here in the winter too."

Debbie, his wife, is no stranger to this desert oasis. She guested at Hotel El Mirador the first year it was re-opened and has accompanied her husband to Palm Springs on every occasion.

KDES to Have Twice Power Of Stations Now Operating

Palm Springs newest and most powerful radio station will be in operation by October 1, using the call letters KDES and operating in the center of the dial, 920, owner George E. Cameron, Jr., announced today.

Offering twice the power of present stations, it will reach out to Indio and Coachella on the east, past Beaumont on the west, toward Hemet on the south and toward Twentynine Palms on the north.

"One of the prime features of the new station will be a stronger coverage of local news and events," Cameron said. Staff members of The Desert Sun will cover the local scene for KDES, thereby offering the first thorough daily news coverage through radio to the desert area.

OTHER FEATURES, according to Cameron, will be music and sports, plus national news and coverage of special events of interest to the listener.

Offices of KDES will be located in The Center, in The Desert Sun building, and will be open on or before September 15. The radio tower, which received approval of the City Planning Commission following a public hearing Wednesday afternoon, is located on leased Indian land in Section 2. Appearing on behalf of the station at the hearing was Attorney Jerome Richardson of Richardson and Henderson law firm.

In announcing the start of operations of the new station, KDES, Cameron said that "Palm Springs is deserving of a strong radio station reaching out to publicize the city, similar to the station of Apple Valley."

"THIS NEW STATION will not only afford listening pleasure to the residents of this area, but will also be powerful enough to reach out to the highways to entertain the ever increasing number of persons who listen to car radios while driving, and to attract them to Palm Springs," Cameron added.

This radio station is another step in the progress and development of Palm Springs, for which Cameron has become noted since moving the main office of the Cameron Oil Company here three years ago. He currently has under construction the $5,000,000 Cameron Center, and has been instrumental in The Desert Sun's transition from a semi-weekly to a daily newspaper.

FAITH IN THE future of Palm Springs is the reason given by Cameron for his many civic ventures:

"My belief is that the growth of Palm Springs cannot be stifled by anyone who objects to progress, and I see no reason why Palm Springs should not rival Palm Beach in the future because Palm Springs has so much more to offer."

Census Bureau To Cooperate in Redistricting

Councilmanic redistricting outlook was brighter today, as Robert W. Burgess, director of Census, told City Planning Director Hy Ranes that it may be possible that the Bureau of Census might be able to work out a plan making additional figures on the 1956 census available to the city for use in its redistricting program.

The city has been attempting to get a breakdown from the Bureau of Census on the number of homeowners in each block of the city, with the hope that this would enable a better method of setting new councilmanic districts.

Burgess told Ranes on the telephone that though he would have to check on the availability of statistics from the forms, it may be possible that the forms, used in taking the last census, could be sent to Los Angeles, and the figures would be made available to authorized city personnel.

The matter of redistricting Palm Springs has fallen into the hands of the planning department on designation by city council. After the plans are drawn, it then must be ratified by the city council and the voters.

Council to Hear Request for New Annexation

City Council Tuesday will hear a recommendation by the City Planning Commission to start immediate annexation proceedings of one square mile of land in Section 30, to the southwest of Palm Springs.

For more than a year the planning commission has been discussing the possibility recommending the action to the council, and Wednesday put the plans into action. They contend that with this property becoming part of Palm Springs, it would be possible to insure a "more orderly and attractive development of the land," which faces Highway 111—one of the main approaches to the city.

The entire section that is proposed for annexation is Indian land, either owned by the Agua Caliente Tribe or individual members of the tribe. About one-third of the land in the section is mountainous.

Daily Desert Sun to Start Sept. 5; Office Planned for Cathedral City

New and interesting features and a more complete news coverage of the Palm Springs resort area will be featured in The Desert Sun when it returns to a daily publication basis with the first edition September 5.

Ward Risvold, publisher, announced that henceforth this newspaper would remain on a daily basis (Tuesday through Saturday) throughout the year.

In response to requests from residents living in Cathedral City, Rancho Mirage, Palm Desert and communities farther south, Publisher Risvold announced that a branch office of The Desert Sun would open its doors September 1.

THE LOCATION will be right in the heart of Cathedral City, 69-570 Broadway, with a staff assigned to that office in order to more closely cover the ever growing progress of those communities to the southeast of Palm Springs.

In addition to complete news coverage this office will also handle display and classified advertising and will also accept subscriptions from new readers in those areas.

An intensive study of the problems affecting those communities will be carefully studied by The Daily Desert Sun and will find expression in the columns of this newspaper, Risvold said.

Within the next few days the telephone number of the new office will be announced.

ALL PROBLEMS pertaining to promotion, advertising and editorial content will be carefully sifted for the good of all concerned in Cathedral City, Rancho Mirage, Palm Valley and Palm Desert, as well as all the way to the gates of Indio.

Representatives of The Desert Sun assigned to the new branch will gladly make appointments with merchants, civic groups and residents regarding any suggestions which may tend to better the community in which they reside and to aid in bringing to the attention of thousands the type of service or goods offered by merchants in these communities.

Tamarisk Club To Fight Suit Of State Board

Tamarisk Country Club said today that they will contest any "legal action" taken by the State Housing Authority in forcing them to pay an additional $9,572, as well as remove five buildings from the Lienau Village site.

Martin Gendel, attorney for the corporation, told The Desert Sun that Tamarisk "would fight the case to the highest court in the land."

Harry J. Drewery, managing director of the club, said that all correspondence regarding the case has been turned over to the club's attorney, and in turn Gendel has notified the board of directors how they stand in the pending suit.

GENDEL CLAIMS THAT the original contract for the purchase of the buildings was nullified some time ago by a compromise with the City of Palm Springs, at which time M. O. Anderson paid a sum of approximately $8,000 and re-

Youth Severely Burned When Gasoline Ignites

James Palmer, 24, who gave an address of General Delivery, North Palm Springs, was severely burned early Friday morning when the motor of a crane which he was cleaning with gasoline caught fire.

He was treated at Desert Hospital for first, second and third degree burns, which covered 30 per cent of his body, according to hospital officials. He is reported to be in good condition.

The accident happened at 7:30 a.m. when Palmer was cleaning the engine of a crane at Massey Rock and Sand Company on North Indian Avenue, with gasoline, when it ignited.

UNNATURAL HISTORY

"The jackalope," says the Douglas, Wyoming, Chamber of Commerce, "is perhaps the rarest animal in North America." It is so rare that if we were not accustomed to believing all we read in the newspapers we should be inclined to dismiss it as the farmer did the giraffe, "There ain't no such animal."

Jack Ward, secretary of the chamber, describes the jackalope as being distinguished from the rabbit family by its horns, and yet differing in shape and color from the deer family. From this we infer that it is a jackrabbit that has grown up on the waters of Antelope Creek, in the northern part of Converse County, of which Douglas is the county seat.

150 Watch as 19 Villagers Depart Thursday Night on C of C Sponsored Trip to Hawaii

A GAY GROUP OF VILLAGERS departed from Palm Springs airport Thursday evening on the first annual non-stop flight to the Hawaiian Islands, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. The Villagers, pictured center on the loading ramp, will spend seven days in the Islands returning the morning of August 24. Early arrivals for the Hawaiian Holiday were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kehl and their two children, Steven and Patricia, at left. The plane hadn't arrived yet but the Kehl's didn't want to take a chance of being late. At right, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Crawford bid their daughter, Sandra, and son, Ron, "Aloha" before boarding the plane. (Anderson Photo).

Village Vacationers Enjoy Facilities At Santa Catalina, Lake Arrowhead

By FRED C. WEIGEL

Vacationing around the southland, Palm Springs residents can do nothing to escape one another, for no matter where you might go Villagers are enjoying their summer vacations after one of the busiest seasons in Palm Springs history.

Two of the most attractive vacation spots in the Southern California area are Santa Catalina Island and the North Shore Tavern at Lake Arrowhead. Any day of the week, Palm Springs is well represented by vacationers.

At Catalina, Palm Springs businessmen have summer businesses, and these men make the welcome to the island a memorable one. Eddie Davidson, local hotel operator who recently resigned as manager of the Casitas del Monte, is again, this year, operating the famous St. Catherine Hotel. Scores of Villagers have made the St. Catherine a stop on their vacation timetable.

Max and Paula Grone, owners of the Catalina Hotel, were seen arriving from an early morning boat trip off the island and stopped to chat with visiting Villagers on the pier. Max is an avid fishing enthusiast and has some real big catches to his credit.

Further up from the beach, and overlooking the bay of Avalon is the Hermosa Hotel owned by pioneer Catalinan Stan Rosin. He is owner of a speedboat and spends a lot of his time taking it on spins around the island. In the Catalian museum is a picture of Stan when he was about five years old, setting on a piling in a police uniform.

Leaving the beach front, and just before reaching the Bird Park, are the famous Catalina stables operated by Frenchy Small. He is a devoted Palm Springer, having operated the Desert In nStables for some time.

Frenchy took me on a horseback trip over the mountains of the island, and though a newspaper man is not one for horseback riding, it was a wonderful ride.

He is very proud of his stable operation on the island and wants to build something like it when he returns to the Village. The stables are very modern and have every feature of cleanliness that it is possible to have.

Returning to the mainland on the S.S. Catalina vacationers have the feeling of seeing the end of a Fitzpatrick travelogue, one that they have lived, and in their mind, plans are formulating for a quick return.

EDDIE DAVIDSON, popular Palm Springs resident and hotel operator stands on the walk of the famous St. Catherine hotel in Santa Catalina. He has made no announcement following his resignation as manager of the Casitas del Monte. At right, Max Grone, holds a big tuna as proof that fishing is good off the popular island. Fast Police Work Results in Arrest

Fast cooperation among officers of the Palm Springs Police Department resulted in the arrest early Friday morning of a man charged with causing mechanical damage to a pedestrian sign at the intersection of Indian Avenue and Andreas Road.

Office Nick Maff discovered the damaged sign, and upon receiving a description of the car involved from a passerby radioed headquarters.

The vehicle was found seven minutes later, at 2:47 a.m., by Sgt. Bob Young in the parking lot of a local restaurant. The driver was inside.

Cited was Charles William Bing of Lynchberg, Virginia, who paid a bail of $47, which included $20 for repair of the sign.

Finding of a California License Plate, G98624, was reported by police Friday.

City Planners Protest Use Of PS Name

Palm Springs Planning Commission has sent a notice of protest to the County Planning Commission in Riverside on the use of Palm Springs in the name of a new subdivision outside the east city limits of this resort community.

The action was taken after the local commission was told by the planning director that the construction standards and zoning governing the proposed subdivision were much lower than the city's requirements. The commission believes that this would reflect unfavorably upon the city's building standards.

The development, owned by A. C. King, Inc., of Fresno, is cut into 463 residential lots and was subdivided some years ago. The project was reactivated this year, and is now halted by the County Planning Commission.

Furlough Plans Halted as Car Stops, Hit in Rear

Extensive mechanical damage was caused to both cars, and the furlough plans of three young Marines went awry, in a collison at 12:17 a.m., Friday, on Highway 111 near Sagebrush Road.

The car occupied by the three Marines who were starting east on a 20-day furlough, driven by Robert Bruce Lynch, 21, had stalled on the highway, according to Officer Nick Maff, who investigated. They had pulled the car off the roadway as far as possible, and attempted to warn oncoming cars by use of a flashlight.

The rear of their vehicle was struck by a car driven by Lyle Harper, 68, Rancho Mirage. He said that he did not see the flashlight or the car.

Both vehicles were traveling east. No citations were issued.

Youth League Receives $85 In Contributions

DESERT HOT SPRINGS—Contributions received to aid the work of the newly-formed Desert Hot Springs Youth League were announced last week by the Rev. Gordon Gilbert, the league's president.

John J. Chauke of the Chauke Trucking Company, Inglewood, gave $50.

R. H. McDonald, Desert Hot Springs real estate broker, gave $25.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schelling of the Desert Hot Springs Drugstore gave $10.

In announcing these donations, the Rev. Mr. Gilbert emphasized that donations of any amount—"even if it's only a dollar" — will be welcomed and are needed.

"Donations of all sizes, from a wide cross-section of the community, are needed of a truly worthwhile youth program is to be established here," the Rev. Mr. Gilbert said.

An expanded program of youth work is planned by the league when school re-opens in the fall.

During the summer, the league is sponsoring Tuesday and Thursday night programs of supervised recreation for young people of the area.

Veterans Group Discusses New Promotion Ideas

Placing of posters in business establishments throughout the Palm Springs, Cathedral City, Indio and Coachella areas was discussed by the Coachella Valley and Palo Verde Valley Veterans Employment Committee at its meeting last week, to promote the employment of veterans.

A sub-committee composed of Russell Snyder, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 5987, Palm Springs L. S. Ogle, World War I Veterans Barracks 554, Indio, and F. Rivas, VFW, Post 3699, Indio, was named to distribute the posters.

It was reported that committee efforts to install a candy and magazine stand for a local blind veteran in the Palm Springs Post Office have resulted in the needed funds being allocated in the 1956-57 fiscal budget of the Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Present at the meeting besides Ogle, Bonham, Snyder and Rivas, were: George A. Prosser, Disabled American Veterans, Chapter 66, Palm Springs; Robert F. Martinez, American Legion, Post 739, Indio; Bob Radice, American Legion, Post 224, Coachella Valley.

The next meeting of the group was set for 7:30 p.m., Tuesday September 11, at the State Employment Office in Indio.

Chamber Holds Summer Meet

The Rancho Mirage Chamber of Commerce held its mid-summer meeting on Saturday evening, August 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the newly opened Desert Holiday Hotel on San Jacinto Way in Rancho Mirage.

A children's fashion show provided poolside entertainment, after which guests swam and enjoyed refreshments.

Mrs. Owen W. Collins, owner of "The Children's Corner" in Rancho Mirage, sponsored the show, which featured latest styles for the younger set.

Among the models who ranged in age from 18 months to 13 years, were: Joy Marie, Jan Ellen and Randy Ladd, children of Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Svoboda, owners of the Desert Holiday Hotel; Mary Jane, Christine, Nancy and Dennie, children of Mr. and Mrs. Owen W. Collins.

The Davidsons are now in the east busy with plans for redecorating and furnishing their new home and expect to take up residents on Chino Canyon Road this fall. Several months ago the Davidson home on Patencio Road in the Tennis Club area was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Callahan, and this sale also was landled by Ken Herman.

On September 1 the Hicks staff will move to their new, spacious and modern office located at 1345 North Palm Canyon Drive, across the street from the Lone Palm Hotel.

Mrs. Ann Carpenter is spending three weeks this month with her mother and family on Vasdeau Island. She motored up the coast with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hunter, who are spending some time in Seattle and then down to Redwood City, California, for the remainder of their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Trumble are having a wonderful August vacation on a dude ranch in Colorado. They have spent many vacations motoring all over the country and planned this "dude ranch" visit so they can stay in one place and rest and relax.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hunter have leased a house in Forest Hills, close enough to downtown San Francisco to have all the fun of attending the Republican Convention. They are entertaining many visitors from the desert during this month of August. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shaw will be their guests during this festive month.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cannon are also in San Francisco this month. They will attend the Convention this week and Mr. Cannon is attending a series of lectures at the University of California in Berkeley. After their northern trip, they will spend several weekends in La Jolla.

Miss Edith Eddy Ward is really doing something different this summer. Instead of going to the Lazy H. Ranch, her usual summer haunt, she will cruise on a private yacht in Alaskan waters. Mrs. Bunny Ward, Edith's mother, is visiting another daughter in Tracy, California.

KINGDOM OF THE HAPPY LAND

This is a previously unpublished story of a kingdom that existed atop Staten Mountain in Western North Carolina for two decades following the close of the Civil War. The yarn was spun before the members of the Hendersonville (N.C.) Rotary Club by Frank Fitzsimons, farmer and banker in this Blue Ridge country, who has been gathering details to authenticate the story for more than ten years. Fitzsimons became interested through a deed to the land occupied by the little kingdom, and obtained the details by interviewing children of early settlers in the area. It goes something like this:

Following the close of the Civil War numerous bands of freed slaves roamed through the South, many of them harassing and stealing from plantation owners with the protection of Union soldiers. One of the bands set out with a different purpose: To find "the happy land." The reason for its high purpose was the inspiration furnished by its leader, Robert Montgomery. This slave had been taught by his master's wife to read and write, and had become a great follower of the teachings of the Bible.

After wandering about for more than a thousand miles, Montgomery's little band of about 70 Negro men, women and children came upon the top of Staten Mountain where Henderson and Polk counties join at the South Carolina state line. There Robert Montgomery established an absolute monarchy with himself as King, his wife as Queen—and his most trusted friend as Prime Minister. On the thickly wooded mountain top he built his "castle" with one wing for himself, one for his Queen and one for his Prime minister. His subjects were quartered in small cabins dotted among the trees. All of the houses—and the castle—were built of native logs, and the ruins of many of them are still to be found on Staten Mountain buried in the thick undergrowth.

Happiness At Last

The King held absolute authority over his subjects; he was ruler, minister and judge. He was a great and brilliant man, according to the reports which Fitzsimons obtained, and was loved and respected by all his followers. Members of the colony raised crops and turned them all over to the King to distribute as he saw fit. Some worked for other farmers in the area but all their pay was collected by the King and divided among the families as he thought best.

Montgomery was a good and kind King, according to all reports, and happiness reigned throughout the little kingdom for many years. Though brought down by word of mouth—there are no confirming documents—the feeling persists that the Kingdom of The Happy Land was the "perfect state" where people lived in happiness and security, the goal which humanity has sought through all the ages.

But this happy state prevailed for only one generation. The young people of the kingdom wanted to get out and "see the world" and wandered away, never to return. The King and his Queen, and his Prime Minister, died and the little kingdom passed into oblivion. Were it not for the inquisitiveness of Frank Fitzsimons a record might never have been made for the Kingdom of The Happy Land which will now be written into the fascinating story of early North Carolina. This is the first time it has been set down in writing.

The King and Queen of The Happy Land had one son. Like the other young people of the little kingdom he wandered off, and settled in Alabama. Years after his mother and father—and the Prime Minister—had died, young Montgomery was tried for murder. He had no money to hire a lawyer so gave a deed to the 300 acres atop Staten Mountain that had once been The Happy Land.

It was through this deed that the story of the Kingdom of The Happy Land was brought to light, almost a hundred years after it happened.

THOUGHTS OF A TURTLE
(New York Herald Tribune)

Turtles think turtle thoughts, a philosopher once said. As summer dwindles, ponds shrink and streams grow sluggish, a turtle comes out on a log and thinks slow, snappish thoughts. Some authorities say a snapping turtle doesn't sun himself on a log as other turtles do. But a countryman has his doubts about this. Why shouldn't Chelydra serpentina have his place in the sun like any other of his smaller and more agreeable cousins? A snapping turtle can't be supposed to keep moving all the time. And he must get tired of staying on a pond's muddy bottom. A thoughtful turtle is necessarily interested in what goes on in a world of sunfish, pond lilies and incautious baby ducks. What better place is there to survey these aquatic things and luncheon prospects than from a slippery log easily abandoned at need?

Agassiz, who never said a turtle wouldn't sun himself on a log, did comment on the great age a turtle can attain. A snapping turtle can be around a lot of summers and get dates and initials carved on his shell by more than one generation. A turtle moves slowly and may be a slow thinker. But when he attacks, either for food or in defense, his head darts mighty fast. In nature's compensatory planning, the eater often meets the fate of the eaten. And a snapping turtle can end up in a soup or stew, if not in a heron. A ten-pound turtle will fill a dishpan when he is divested of his shell and cut up neatly. Turtle meat looks like chicken, but a turtle who might be forty years old is not as tender as even a tough Leghorn.

Experts say a snapping turtle is too dangerous to be considered as a pet. Anybody looking a turtle in the eye will understand that he doesn't want to be petted. The best way to pet a turtle is to keep him in a screened barrel in a pond, feed him well and fatten him up for the soup kettle. The shell of such a turtle can be scraped, polished and exhibited to city folk who have never seen a turtle bigger than six inches or six ounces. If a snapping turtle is an ugly customer and indulges in ugly thoughts, perhaps it is because he is annoyed at always having to carry his house around with him. This helps in a housing shortage, but when a turtle walks it is as if he was sticking his arms and legs out of the windows. Even in a free world a turtle has little freedom, on or off a log.

DEPRESSION LESSON

He studiously avoids going into debt, has devoted a part of his annual gain into savings designed to carry him through bad years . . . Now I know why they call it the Windy City.

Spent most of the week acquiring TV-eye-tis and learned to my consternation that, as a registered Republican all of these years, I have been consorting with, and given support to, Malefactors of Privilege and Pillage.

The commander of a nearby military base is undoubtedly also a staunch GOP. Everytime the man (or woman) on the podium in Chicago drew a bead on the administration a bevy of 15 or more multi-engined bombers would thunder across the roof.

Drowned out the speaker completely. Which was probably good for my Republican blood-pressure.

IN ALL PROBABILITY, this thought has occured to someone long before. But since I haven't read it anywhere or heard it, I'll pass it along.

Did it ever occur to you how appropriately named are the sites of the Democratic and Republican conventions.

All week the Demos have held forth in the Livestock Hall in Chicago. Now the GOP takes over in the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

Obviously the reason for that of which there is a lot of.

REMEMBER that old vaudeville gag: "Who was the lady I seen you with last night?"

Well, maybe you missed the particular TV Quiz Show the other night and didn't hear the 1956 version of that oldie, innocently presented by one of the participants.

The MC asked him the customary question: "And where are you from, sir?"

The program guest said "Denmark."

"Here on a pleasure trip?" asked the quizmaster.

"No, I came over to see my wife," was the reply which almost stopped the show.

SCANNING the public prints during commercials between My Friend Flika, Lassie and the fights, I see where the left hand still doesn't know what the right is doing.

A Washington dispatch indicated that one branch of the Military Services is making like crazy selling surplus material at bargains while another is equally busy buying similiar items at high prices. Part of what's happening to our take-home pay.

ALSO NOTED where L.A. police picked up a motorist for littering the streets with torn $20 bills.

Police intimated he didn't have much sense. Well, do any litterbugs?

Litterbugs are vandals just as much as those two youngsters Village police picked up recently, solving 50 cases of vandalism.

Have often wondered what prompts acts of vandalism, that senseless destruction of property which benefits the perpetrators not at all but means annoyance and loss to others. Police might quiz these lads to learn why they did it. Could provide clues for a preventative remedy.

INTERESTING item from both convention cities. Hotels installed telephones in bathrooms for busy party leaders and delegates.

Would be convenient in newspaper offices, too.

Research in the Veterans Administration

Congress has appropriated for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1956, $10,000,000 for an enlarged medical research program. While research to a minor extent has been carried on for many years, it has only been in the past three years that considerably enlarged sums of money have been appropriated in an attempt to combat certain disabling diseases that curtail the usefulness in life and may even produce death at an earlier level than the average.

The four areas which are having concentrated investigative work applied may be listed as neuro-psychiatry, which means brain and nerve diseases; cardio-vascular diseases, which are diseases of the heart and blood vessels; cancer and leukemia, and geriatrics, which are diseases of the aged.

IN ADDITION TO these, the Veterans Administration will continue its studies, for which continuing funds have been supplied by the Congress in the following categories: 1. The chemical treatment of Multiple Sclerosis, a serious disabling chronic disease of the spinal cord; 2. The chemical treatment of mental diseases which can be influenced by the tranquilizing drugs; 3. The application of the newer drugs in the treatment of high blood pressure, and 4. The chemical treatment of cancer in conjunction with United States Public Health Service, the American Cancer Society, and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

The Veterans Administration will also expand its research program in tuberculosis, particularly in the fungus diseases which are beginning to evidence themselves in individuals who are supposedly now protected from tuberculosis.

FURTHER EMPHASIS will be placed upon individual research projects, such as the detection and identification of factors that produce high blood pressure; the cause and nature of hardening of the arteries; metabolic diseases such as thyroid and diabetis.

The brain areas where epilepsy and related nervous disorders are found to occur are also subject to investigation.

In addition to the above, the House of Representatives has gone along with the Senate in approving Federal medical research legislation, calling for a record appropriation of $184,000,000 for the National Institute of Health for the current fiscal year started July 1.

IN THIS RECORD appropriation, $48,000,000 goes to the National Cancer Institute, $35,000,000 for mental health research, $33,000,000 to National Heart Institute, $15,000,000 for arthritis and metabolic diseases, and about $8,000,000 for neurology and blindness.

While we are making inroads and controlling many diseases, some diseases which were considered controlled are showing an increase. Diphtheria and typhoid fever seem to lead the group of infectious diseases in the increase category. Psittacosis, or parrot fever, transmitted to human beings from the various types of birds grouped in the parrot classification, has also shown an increase, indicating the greater number of individuals who acquire such birds and the carelessness that many individuals assume in their contact with these pets.

'Life in These United States'

(From the Readers Digest)

It was late afternoon in a large crowded shopping center near Oak Park, Michigan, when a distraught-looking young housewife dashed into a restaurant phone-booth. Then she stood outside until a taxi drove up.

"Where to, lady?" the driver asked.

"Just drive around the parking lot," she answered. "I've lost my car!"

It's for sure now that I know I'm in the wrong business. And there are friends of mine who are in the same boat. Listen to this story and judge for yourself as it was told me by Chief of Police August G. Kettmann.

A young stalwart not more than 25 applied for a job with the local constabulary. He went through the written test like a hot knife cutting through summer butter that mama forgot to put back in the icebox. The next step was his physical examination and a date for his appearance before the doctor was set. But the applicant failed to show up.

Chief Kettmann chanced to meet the young man on the street and inquired the where's and why's of his failure to appear.

"Well," replied the young man (and by the way this is a true story "I just can't afford to take the job at this time. "You see, Chief, I drive a 1956 Cadillac and with the two or three gardening jobs I have the car will be paid for real soon now. When I get it paid for I'll come in for that physical if you still want me."

"I don't know about that," the Chief said to me. "Wonder what people will think when they see a Palm Springs police officer driving a Cadillac." Yes sir, Chief, that's something to think about

THIS DOMESTIC little scene began in front of Mayfair Market and finally ended in the police department with quite an unusual ending.

A well-known Villager with his wife sitting beside him stopped his car in front of the market. It was a few minutes to 6 p.m. The Better Half stepped out of the vehicle and ordered her husband to follow.

"But honey darling," he cautioned, "we have to put a penny in the parking meter or they'll put a parking ticket on the car."

"We'll only be in the market a few minutes and no one will touch the car," tartly snapped the intuitive B.H. "Come on," she commanded and Hubby followed.

In a few minutes, out of the store they came. And sure 'nuf there was that telltale ticket stuck under the windshield wiper.

Now it was Hubby's turn to explode. 'See! What did I tell you. Because of one stinking penny we will now have to pay a fine," he wailed as he reached for the ticket.

It was a hot muggy day. The Better Half was now more than ever irritated and before Hubby could even read the ticket she snatched it out of his hand and tore the thing into tiny bits.

"Now see what you've done! the maddened law abiding Hubby snarled. "Doing that will not solve anything," and he stooped to pick up every bitsy little piece of the tag. "Now" he said quite manly and most forcibly, "we are going to drive right down to the police station and settle this thing right now."

AT THE POLICE station Hubby, the police clerk on duty and one of the police officers assisted in putting the torn pieces together. At least the tedious task was accomplished. But there was no fine assessed. The policeman excused himself and plunged through the front door. He roared chokingly with laughter. The police clerk turned away and walked into another room but her muffled laughter reached the couple who were still standing at her desk.

"Well," hissed the Better Half.

"So what?" the Hubby hissed back, as both of them departed leaving the pieced together tag behind them. It read:

"Go to the church of your choice, but go to church. Jesus Saves."

And there's a good moral in that statement even unto a parking ticket as this couple will now attest to—I hope.

JACK AND DOROTHY Gorham are anticipating a new addition to the family around December. "The latter part of December," declared Dorothy. "And I hope it's on Christmas Day."

Al Laurye of the Steak Ranch is in the hospital for observation following a slight setback after an illness from which all of his friends believed he had fully recovered. He is quite cheerful and will be home soon.

Once again I come with bad tidings. It concerns the Marmolejo family, one of the most highly respected groups in the Mexican colony here. Returning from Disneyland five days ago, Manuel Maromlejo suffered a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was as of yesterday in critical condition and not expected to survive. This morning I received a telephone call reporting his death. He is mercifully beyond pain or worry now. But the story of the death vigil of his wife, mother and sister and seven children surpasses for the living the agony suffered by the dead father.

Virginia with her five children, her sister, Rafaela, and her two children and the stricken man's mother, desirous of being near him for fear that he would slip into death found the city of churches, Riverside, callously indifferent to the plight of these women and their children.

The Mexican family tried most every day to obtain lodgings but were turned away. They were forced to sleep in their two automobiles parked on the streets of Riverside. Why? The story is that the group were refused shelter, for which they would have gladly paid, because of the children. The reason is so bluntly cold and heartless in a city that boasts of many temples of worship.

Now the three adult women and the seven children are back in their home here in Palm Springs. They will never be able to erase from their minds the faces of those hotel and motel keepers who refused them shelter while a dear one lingered at Death's door for more than five days.

EARL WILSON:

Anita's Amour

NEW YORK—I was still smarting from a bawling out from my Beautiful Wife—for writing about the wrong Glamour Guys—when I bumped into Anita Ekberg.

And quite a bump it was! Anyway, Anita quickly agreed with my B.W. . . . most of the male Sex Bombs we read about are actually tired old codgers . . . with snow-white hair on their chest . . . toothless . . . achey . . . lumbagoey . . . wearing toupees . . . and, according to Anita, very dull.

"But my husband, now," spoke Anita, laying a hand on her trim-waisted spouse, Anthony Steele.

"Even if he weren't my husband, I'd say to my friends that he's the most attractive man I've seen in a long time. In fact, I did say it when he wasn't my husband. He has so much sex appeal it comes through the television."

"I think I'd better leave," softly remarked Mr. Steele.

"That's how I saw him the first time," continued "The Build." She added, "I fell for him right then, and I said to my friends he was a man I wanted to meet. Then I said, 'Let's forget it. He's probably married or involved.' "

ANITA—WHO WAS HERE publicizing "Back From Eternity"—had known a lot of men in Hollywood, not to mention other places, and to her a lot of them weren't men.

"But from the time I met Tony, I didn't go out with anybody else. I didn't think of anybody else.

"We'd go to a restaurant and days later somebody would say 'Remember what we talked about the other night?'

"I'd say 'What other night? I don't remember it.' I didn't, either."

But there, there, Wilson, you're ahead of your story. Even after she'd announced her wish to meet him, she turned down the idea of having a blind date with him. But there was a party in London and.

"In walked Tony Steele That night we closed up every bar in London. We walked two miles at least, and I was already holding my shoes in my hand, I was so tired from dancing.

"His housekeeper was there when we got to his place and I had breakfast there. After that he was always sitting at the studio waiting for me or waiting at the bar to make sure we didn't lose any time."

'Well," I said, trying tp pin her down, "was it his height, or what?"

"Being 5-6½ and him exactly 6 feet it helps, but at that time I didn't give any thought to how tall he was.

"CLARK GABLE," she added, "never did a thing to me, and he was a bachelor then, too. They talk about Elvis Presley. He might be attractive when he grows up. But with Tony . . . it's his eyes and his smile and, when he opens his mouth, he says something. Some of these beautiful men are such bores. Of course, it's the same with girls, and it's why some beautiful girls keep their mouths shut."

"But Tony talked, too?" I asked.

"He looked at me and he had something in his eyes."

"Darling," mentioned Tony, "every man who looks at you has something in his eyes. I don't mind if he keeps it there."

"How does Tony look with his shirt off?" I inquired delicately, inasmuch as Anita has also taken her shirt partly off in pictures.

"Tony doesn't take his shirt off just because he has a good chest like some men, but because the movies call for that," Anita said. "I don't mind saying as the wife of Tony that he's a darned good actor."

Anita added, "It's a good thing I married Tony in Europe—I'd never had a chance with him in America."

I would have asked Anita to tell me again the qualities she didn't like — age, toothlessness, etc., just to recapitulate . . . but I suddenly realized that the characteristics she found objectionable are those of most of my best friends . . . and also of me.

'Mind' Selected As Sermon Topic For Scientists

The Christian Science churches will have as their Lesson-Sermon topic on Sunday, "Mind." This subject relates to the wisdom, knowledge, and understanding of God and His gift of consciousness to man.

The Golden Text is from the 147th Psalm, "Great is our Lord, and of great power: His understanding is infinite" (147:5).

In this connection a passage from one of the two pastors of the church, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads, "The starting-point of divine Science is that God, Spirit, is All-in-all, and that there is no other might nor Mind,—that God is Love, and therefore He is divine Principle . . . No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows." (p. 275)

In a correlative selection from the other pastor, the Bible, Paul declares in Romans, "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever" (11:33, 36).

Cantor Erwin Halpern Is Elected To Serve as Cantor of Temple Isaiah

Cantor Erwin Halpern has been elected by the local Jewish community to serve as the Cantor of Temple Isaiah, and will officiate for the first time here at the High Holy Day Services beginning Wednesday evening, September 5, it was announced this week by Zachary Pitts, president of the Jewish Community Center of Palm Springs.

Cantor Halpern, a native of Budapest, Hungary, came to the United States in 1939 when he was forced to flee before the menace of Nazism. A specialist in the field of music education, he received his training from noted cantors in Europe and the United States, and holds a degree in music-education from the University of Houston, Texas.

In the United States, Cantor Halpern continued his religious training at the Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary and the Yavne Hebrew Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1954. For the past two years he has served Jewish communities in northwestern Pennsylvania.

One of the things that attracted him to the West Coast is the fact that his wife, the former Marcia Lee Rosenberg, is from Los Angeles. The Halperns have two children, Sheldon Michael, age 22 months, and Shylla Rae, age seven months.

Besides his cantor duties, he will serve as an assisitant to Rabbi Leon Rosenberg in the educational department of the Community Center. He has already started work here.

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room
© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. (Matthew 16:24)

One of the mos. beautiful words in any language is sacrifice. We associate it with the rich, sweet, and beautiful self-giving experiences of life.

I recall such an experience during the depression days. My mother, a devoted Christian, had a very limited income. It was her wish to subscribe for a splendid religious periodical for my brothers and me. Out of her limited income she expected to pay for those subscriptions. When I discovered it, I chided her and refused to allow her to pay for them. I shall never forget the pained expression on her face. Tears flowed down her cheeks as she said, "But I want to; it gives me great joy."

The true Christian does not look upon such sacrifice as self-denial but as a privilege, an opportunity, a joy. This is the kind of sacrifice that God blesses. It enables His church to grow and to prosper. For those who would be true followers of Christ, the thread of sacrifice must run through all of life.

PRAYER

O God, forgive us wherein we have thought more of ourselves than of Thee and of others. Forgive us for accepting the lesser values. Grant us strength of mind and soul to find meaning in every sacrifice we make as Christians. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

God will help me to do more than is required.
Charles W. Grant (Tenn.)

Home Relief Recipients in County Drop 7 Percent Over 5 Month Period

In Riverside county, the number of people receiving the county-administered and county-financed direct general home relief went down seven per cent in May, compared with January of the current year, California Taxpayers' association reported today

At the same time, the number on the aid to the needy aged rolls in the county went down one per cent, the number of recipients of aid to dependent children went up three per cent, and the number of people on the aid to the blind rolls went up one per cent, the Taxpayers' association said.

In May, there were 574 people in the county on the entirely county-financed and county-administered direct general home relief rolls, compared with 618 for January, the association found.

NEEDY AGED ROLLS in the county for May included 6,882 people, compared with 6,943 for January.

There were 3,187 people (children and adults) on the aid to dependent children rolls of the county for May, compared with 3,108 for January.

Aid to the blind rolls of the county showed 341 people for May, compared with 327 for January.

State-wide, general home relief rolls were 23 per cent lower for May than for January, with 49,386 people receiving this kind of relief for May, 1956, compared with 64,252 during January.

COMPARING the same months, the number of people receiving direct aid as needy aged in California fell off only one per cent, to 264,268 for May from the 267,191 for January.

The number of people on the aid to dependent children rolls went up one per cent during the same period, to 181,982 for May from the 179,540 for January.

The number of people receiving aid to the blind remained almost constant, 12,859 for May and 12,834 for January.

"Advantages of county control and county rule-making show clearly when the changes in numbers of people receiving the different kinds of aid to the needy during like periods are compared," the Taxpayers' association said.

a better figure than I had at 21

This is what you'll likely say when you've experienced the wonders of Stauffer Home Plan! For a beautiful figure you must have correct weight, proper measurements and postural balance. Stauffer Home Plan helps give you all three. This plan of passive exercise and reduced caloric intake trims inches from your hips, tummy, legs and arms. Your posture is lifted, beautified, muscle firmed and tightened. You simply lie down and relax.

Coulton Brothers, Not Yet 21, Start New Business

Opportunity—America.

This is the belief of two youths who have not yet reached their majority age, but are entering the tough competitive world of business.

They are Arthur Bernard "Bob" Coulton, and his brother, Lawrence Ronald "Larry," who are opening a completely equipped office supply business at 390 East Sunny Dunes Road.

Right now, they are busy at other things — training with the National Guard at Camp Roberts for two weeks—but they will return and start at work immediately.

Bob, 18, was graduated from Palm Springs High School last spring, while Larry, 20, was a member of the Class of 1954. Larry attended Arizona State College, working at Thrifty Drug Store the past two summers. Bob has worked for two summers at Ramon Drug.

They came to Palm Springs with their family in 1951 (their father is a Certified Public Accountant), and believe in the future of the Village.

To demonstrate their belief, they will have the most completely equipped office supply store in this area, offering typewriters, office furniture and more than 7,000 different items. They will have in stock everything that is needed for the average commercial office.

And they also have ambition. They plan to be on the lookout for business at all times, pounding the sidewalks every day checking to see whether or not they can help any businessman.

BOB COULTON, 18

LARRY COULTON, 20

Their ambition and initiative adds up to—Opportunity America.

Local Assembly Invites Others To Co-Host Meet

Palm Springs Republican Assembly will invite the San Gorgonio Pass and the Indio Republican Clubs to be co-hosts to the California Republican Assembly at its meeting at El Mirador Hotel October 13 to 15, it was announced today.

At the state group's meeting, Vice President Richard M. Nixon will deliver a major campaign address on the evening of October 14.

The San Gorgonio Pass Club officially voted to join the State Assembly at a meeting last week, which was attended by two Palm Springs residents, Warren Slaughter, regional director, 29th District, and Al E. Hoover, secretary of the Palm Springs Assembly. Norman Davis of Beaumont was elected president of the group.

The Indio Unit will receive its official charter from Robert Craig, president of the State Assembly, at a dinner meeting September 11.

moved one of the buildings. "The action by the Housing Authority has come as a complete surprise to us, and we strictly deny any claim whatsoever."

Acting City Manager Shelby Langford said that though he does not know if City Manager R. W. Peterson has had conversation with Tamarisk concerning the compromise, the city's file on the matter contains no indication that a compromise had been reached.

THE MATTER WAS brought to a head early this week, when a letter was sent to the board of directors of Tamarisk Country Club from Louis J. Heinzer, administrative advisor to the State Housing Authority, threatening "legal action" unless the corporation paid off a $9,572 balance on the contract and removed the buildings from the Lienau Village site. Of the total, $500 was to act as a bond to insure removal of the buildings.

Originally, the plan was that Tamarisk would use the buildings as housing for employes, but state authorities as well as the county board of supervisors said the buildings were not conforming to county ordinances.

6-Year-Old Takes Five Sleeping Pills

A six-year-old girl, Linda Chatman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chatman, 715 East Arenas Road, was rushed to Desert Hospital Saturday morning by Officer Bob Davis after she was discovered to have swallowed five sleeping pills.

She was in good condition, following use of a stomach pump there.

Marmolejo Rites Set for Tuesday

Rosary for Manuel Marmolejo, 45, will be recited at his home, 663 East Arenas Road, Monday night at 7:30 p.m., and will be followed the next day with a high requiem Mass at our Lady of Guadalupe Church, with interment in the Palm Springs cemetery.

Marmolejo was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage 10 days before his death Friday morning in the Riverside Community Hospital.

His widow, Virginia, his sister, Rafaela Valdez, and mother, Jovita Romero, were present at his bedside when Marmolejo succumbed.

In addition he is survived by four daughters and one son and two other sisters, Sidronia Villegas, Palm Springs, and Mrs. Carmen Martinez of Garden Grove.

The deceased had resided in Palm Springs since 1939 and was engaged in the gardening and maintenance business.

KILLING

jumped from the car and he chased him on foot. He caught up with him at the time when the Marine from Camp del Mar stopped and offered the pair assistance.

After igniting the car, Simonds hitched a ride with a truck driver to Arlington, and then continued on to Olympia, Washington, where he was arrested by police after he made a telephone call to the Desert Villa Motel in Palm Desert.

The youth will be arraigned in Palm Springs Judicial District Court Monday morning.

Whether District Attorney William Mackey will take evidence before the County Grand Jury and ask for an indictment, is not known at this time.

AS SIMONDS DEPLANED at the Palm Springs airport, he was met by sheriff's Lt. Ed Brown, chief criminal deputy John Price, and Lt. Robert Presley of Riverside. He hid his face from cameramen as he walked from the plane to the passenger loading gate, but consented to a brief interview by newspapermen who were on hand to meet the plane.

He told newsmen that he was from Silver City, New Mexico, and that he came to Indio last October. When asked where he got the name of David Schultz, he answered, "just picked it up."

He denied to newsmen at the airport that he knew Niess, and when asked what he thought of the charge against him he said "it's jumbled up right now."

At this point sheriff's officers put a stop to the questioning and rushed the suspect to Indio for questioning, and booking on a charge of murder.

During the questioning Simonds tugged nervously at his ear, answered questions slowly and hesitantly and talked in a quiet monotone.

Vogelaar said that Simonds was "very cooperative" on the air trip to Palm Springs.

County, Cities Again Disagree On Sales Tax

Representatives of cities in Riverside county, and members of the board of supervisors tried unsuccessfully to reach agreement on the sales tax issue at an informal discussion meeting in Riverside Wednesday, and scheduled another session for September 12.

Shelby Langford, acting city manager, and Councilman Jerry Sanborn represented Palm Springs at the meeting, with other city representatives present from Banning, Corona and Riverside.

Supervisors continued to insist that the cities should share their sales tax receipts with the county, if a sales tax ordinance is adopted which covers all the unincorporated areas. Their argument is that the cities would benefit both by the application of the sales tax to the unincorporated areas, and also by the state acting as the collection agency.

The cities refuse to share income from the tax which now is applied to its fullest extent in the municipalities affected.

The new organization of cities will meet Thursday, August 23, at Hemet again to discuss the county proposal in relation to their own stand.

PROUD OF HIS CATCH, Maury Libott is pictured above with his 114½ pound sail fish caught off the coast of Mexico. Madge Libott accompanied her husband on the 10-day vacation trip to Guaymas and La Paz, Mexico. In his report on catching the fish, Libott said that it took him 25 minutes to land the fish and he used medium tackle. The couple went to Mexico after a vacation in the northwest.

Palm House Needs One Win To Take Title

In the third thriller of the season between these two teams the Palm House moved within one game of the league championship by edging the Mexican Colony 5 to 4 Thursday night at the Polo Grounds.

The game went extra innings, with the final run being scored in the last of the ninth.

Highlight of the game was back-to-back home runs by Bill Dugan and Chet Grebner for the Palm House. They, together with Max Melton and Maurice Smith, were the hitting stars for the winners. Sharing batting honors for the Mexican Colony were Ben and Frank Prieto.

Dove Numbers Normal, Season Starts Sept. 1

Dove numbers are above normal in almost every section of the state, the Department of Fish and Game reported.

Weather conditions could create local scarcities, but overall the picture is better than it has been for several years.

The season begins September 1 and runs through September 30, with shooting hours from one half hour before sunrise and closing at sunset.

Bag limit is 10 doves per day in the aggregate of mourning doves and white-winged doves. The latter may be taken in Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.

The Department has banded about 4,000 mourning doves with U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service leg bands, and asks cooperation of hunters in returning the bands to trace migrations. Also sought are dove wings, along with a report on the date and locality of the bag.

The Department also reported good numbers of valley quail, especially in the central coastal areas.

The win moved the Merchants into undisputed possession of fifth place in the league standings.

Coachella Valley Residents Ask Closing of Dove Season This Year

There are exceptions, Dr. H. L. Weber of Indio told the county board of supervisors Monday, but experience proves that the dove-hunter is on the average irresponsible. He damages property and crops, shoots from his auto along highways and streets, and leaves in his wake an avalanche of beer cans, whiskey bottles, food scraps, shotgun shells, and bags containing dead doves, as well as dead and crippled valuable insectivorous birds, chickens, pigeons, cats, dogs, and game out of season.

In behalf of the Committee for Dove Protection, Dr. Weber, retired commander of the Medical Corps of the U.S. Navy, asked the supervisors to take action for seasonal relief from dove shooting in the Coachella Valley until a legislative proposal can be presented at the coming session of the Legislature. He said posting of land against shooting is ineffective and law enforcement insufficient or sympathetic with the trespassers.

THE SUPERVISORS referred the request to the county fish and game commission and the sheriff.

According to the committee, no other bird or animal is legally killed while bringing forth their young. They protest also that the large loss of doves is the loss of a resource which qualified opinion considers an ally of the farmer in weed control since doves consume tons of noxious weed seeds each year.

"We have made no attempt to bring a large delegation here to hastle and harangue before you," declared Dr. Weber who was accompanied only by Mrs. Weber. He did, however, exhibit a large number of post cards from people opposed to the continued shooting of doves in the Coachella Valley. He said 99.4 per cent of the voters and taxpayers are not dove hunters.

SPONSORS OF THE committee include many well-known Coachella Valleyites, including:

DHS Title Hope Smashed, 3 to 2

Desert Hot Springs was eliminated from title competition Wednesday night by a 3 to 2 loss to the Pow Wow entry in the Desert Softball League. Pow Wow still has a chance for the crown.

Bill Tichenor matched winner Bill Purdom in the hit department, each allowing two, but lost out.

The line score:

Pow Wow	010 101 0—3
Hot Springs	100 100 0—2

Cabazon Chief Guilty, is Fined

Cabazon Police Chief Robert Morton, 54, was fined a total of $248 and placed on three years probation after being found guilty on two counts by a Riverside Municipal Court Jury Thursday, on charges brought by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paxton of Palm Springs.

Morton was charged with disturbing the peace and making an illegal U-turn. The Paxtons in their complaint said that while they were traveling on Highway 60-70-99 on May 22 Morton made an illegal U-turn in front of them, causing them to swerve to avoid striking a pickup truck. When they returned to Cabazon, they said, the chief hurled obscenities at them.

Presiding judge was Francis Estudillo.
